

Dear Public Service Director,

Please help support our most vulnerable students.

There is much talk in the news about the pronounced "learning loss" that is affecting K-12 students post-pandemic. In addition, there are many students who struggle because they lack basic school supplies, food, and clothing, and therefore attending school can be a challenge. All this impacts the most vulnerable kids – who may face hunger, homelessness, and trauma.

Fortunately, there is an organization dedicated to helping students inside schools and beyond – wherever support is needed. For years, Communities In Schools® (CIS®) has worked in schools across the country to provide students with what they need to help them thrive. This includes placing caring adults, site coordinators who know the obstacles students are facing, by their side to provide a community of support. CIS staff ensure that students have everything they need to engage in learning.

When your listeners hear these extremely important PSAs in :60 and :30 lengths, they'll know that CIS is working tirelessly to ensure that students have what they need to succeed in school and in life.

Thank you in advance for your generous media support. And for being a vital part of our Communities of Support.

Sincerely,

Anya Harrington
Vice President, Marketing & Communications
